

7. Post-Reading Activities

1. Look closely at one chapter of Charlotte's Web. How did E.B. White build your interest? What was the climax in that chapter? How were things resolved?
2. Talk to someone who currently lives or grew up in an agricultural area. Has farm life changed? (This might be a fun zoom-call conversation.)
3. Do different generations in your family have different views of Charlotte's Web based on how they have lived?
4. Read more books by E.B. White, they include: Stuart Little and The Trumpet of the Swan. Do you see any similarities? After you read these books, you may want to watch movies that have been made about these books and Charlotte's Web.
5. Read the Little House on the Prairie books by Laura Ingalls Wilder. These books include illustrations by Garth Williams.
6. Continue to visit the Redlands Adult Literacy website: www.akspl.org/adultliteracy to learn more about upcoming activities.

Would you like to Learn More About the Adult Literacy Program?

If you would like to volunteer for the Redlands Adult Literacy Program, or you are an adult who needs help with reading and writing, please visit the adult literacy website to learn more about the Redlands Adult Literacy Program. The program is free and confidential. Please email: literacy@akspl.org or call 909.798.7565, ext. 4138, to talk to Diane Shimota, the Adult Literacy Coordinator, if you have any questions.
